Southern Centennial

Edgewood campus student body president, Dennis Zorumski, gave an address at the opening ceremonies of the five year Centennial celebration.

The 100th Anniversary Celebration for Southern Illinois University

The relatively new campus at Edwardsville participated in the centennial celebration of SIU, which was founded in 1869 in Carbondale as a Normal School.

The landmark of the Edwardsville campus, the SIU tower, overlooks the lake area where the first on-campus housing was built in the first year of the centennial.

A black and white photograph of a large, dark, rectangular sign with the text "Southern Illinois University Edwardsville Campus" in white, serif font. The sign is set against a light background, possibly a wall or a large signpost. The sign is flanked by two dark, rectangular pillars.

Spring Festival '68:

Despite showers, spectators lined up to watch the annual tricycle race which opened Spring Festival Activities. The disappointment of the day vanished in the carnival mood of the evening's activities as students toured booths and danced to the beat of the Guild. After Miss Rosemary Jackson was crowned queen, the evening ended with a booming fireworks display. Although lake activities were rained out, the DKT Variety Show capped the week-end's activities.

Trying his luck at craps, a student tossed the dice at a booth sponsored by the Black Student Association.

An armload of stuffed animals indicated a lucky night at the booths.

Satirizing the myth of Robin Hood, the Student Nurses presented "How to Succeed Without Trying."

Friday afternoon activities included the APO tricycle race, The Gran Prix, which featured this tire maze, flour bath and pies in the face.

Opening ceremonies of the Spring Festival included an on-the-mall concert by the SIU Symphonic Orchestra.

Advance publicity of the big Spring weekend was provided by dancers in the University Bookstore display window.

Highlight Spring

Festival Weekend

Spring Festival 1969 featured a carnival atmosphere, beginning Friday with a concert and tricycle race in the afternoon and the dance, coronation, and fair in the evening. Saturday activities included a picnic at the Lake, the Great Canoe Races, volleyball, softball, and a tug of war. The Delta Kappa Tau Variety Show Saturday night marked the end of the Festival.

Students pitched pennies, threw hoops and ate hot dogs at the carnival booths set up on the hairpin drive Friday night.

Jackson, retiring Queen, Emma Hardemon, 1969 Queen, Terri Hesse, Rose Siemer, and Patti Todaro.

Campus Leaders Orient New Students

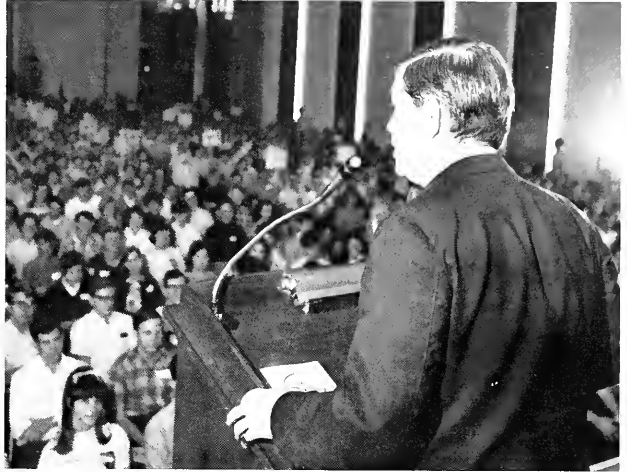

Over 1000 bemuddled and awed new students received their first insight to university life from the Chancellor during new student orientation in September. Orientation leaders, composed of the new student Orientation Committee and 100 upperclassmen, assisted in the introduction which featured group discussions, guest speakers, study skills sessions, and social events. Sponsored by campus organizations, the Activities Fair completed the orientation agenda.

In informal surroundings at camp, leaders discuss the problems new students will face.

Interested Freshmen show pride and individuality in their group.

Chancellor Rendleman offers his time and assistance during his welcoming speech to the new SIU students.

Campus clubs recruit new members at the Activities Fair, designed to interest students in joining organizations.

Summer Activities

The Canadian group, Rings and Things, were the first group to appear at SIU as part of the Coffee House Circuit sponsored by the Program Council. The circuit included a number of Midwestern colleges and universities.

During the Spring quarter, the Association performed in the Meridian Hall in a two-concert show.

Entertainers and Speakers

Alzo and Udine, a folk rock duo from England, appeared in concert with the Association.

United States senator from Illinois, Charles Percy, on a tour of state college campuses, spoke to an overflow crowd about educational facilities and living conditions in East St. Louis.

Sister Joanna Malone, one of the DC IX, defended her views on education and her actions against the Dow Chemical Company in Washington, D.C.

Scattered around the mall, brightly colored clusters of balloons announced the approach of the Homecoming weekend.

Bonfire and Parade

Participating in SIU's first Homecoming parade, Homecoming Queen candidates, soccer team members, floats, and bands marched through downtown Edwardsville.

Riding in the parade, soccer team members and supporters displayed the enthusiasm that carried them to a victory in the Homecoming game.

Homecoming

Furious campaigning by queen candidates heightened anticipation of what proved to be the greatest Homecoming yet for the Edwardsville Campus. Stimulated by a pep rally and a gala parade, the Cougars earned a 10-0 victory over Greenville. Meridian Hall was the scene of the Homecoming Dance and Coronation Saturday evening, while on Sunday it was converted into an auditorium to host singer, John Davidson, and comedian, Pete Barbutti.

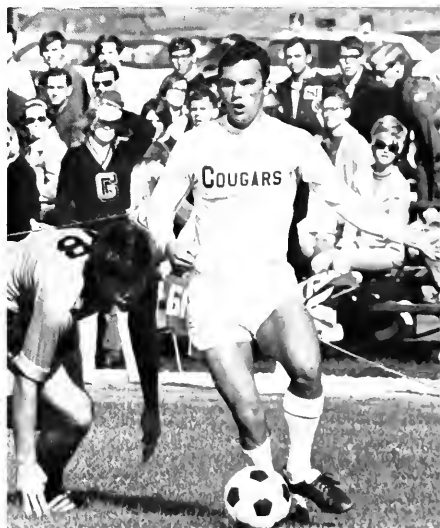

Boost Cougars' Spirits

At the Friday night bonfire, energetic cheerleaders led the crowd in voicing support for the soccer team.

Activities

Grand Opening of the University

A thorough cleaning made the Goshen Lounge ready for Grand Opening activities.

Cutting the ceremonial ribbon, Chris Pashoff officially opened the second floor area.

Visitors viewed the Goshen Lounge from the newly opened second floor balcony.

Center Second Floor

Aided by SIU student Anne Schubert, the Times Square Two performed in afternoon and evening festivities.

Every minute of September 27 was filled with special activities celebrating the Grand Opening of the University Center's Ballroom and Second Floor. A twelve hour entertainment program opened with the traditional ribbon cutting ceremony after which guests were invited to tour the new conference rooms, dine in the University Club and enjoy a mixer dance, featuring the One-Eyed Jacks, films and free recreational facilities.

In the over-filled Meridian Ballroom, the One Eyed Jacks made their first appearance at SIU.

Issues, Opinions and Concerns

In protest against the war, a day of mourning was declared and armbands were worn as students encouraged peace in Asia.

Black students staged a protest against the Afestyle, when a picture of black students eating watermelon on the mall brought forth charges of racism and bigotry against the campus newspaper.

Campus Dialogues:

Students Gather in Goshen to Express Thoughts and Opinions

Held weekly, the Campus Dialogues provided a forum for discussions that ranged from race and drugs to General Studies and Registration.

Professors as well as students took advantage of the weekly discussions to argue for their point of view.

Listening to other students speak, Milt Wharton and Charles Traggessor reflect the views expressed.

Mrs. Marjorie Pinchwife (Linda Wylder), the Country Wife, hangs on to her lover Mr. Horner (John Derby), who only pretends to love her to upset her husband.

Mr. Pinchwife (Bruce Hennie) threatens his wife Marjorie after finding her writing a letter to her lover Mr. Horner.

Bawdy gossip flows as Mrs. Dainty Fidget (Alice Norbury), her sister My Lady Fidget (Carol Thompson) and Mrs. Squeamish (Anna Zimmer) discuss the affairs of the Country Wife.

Country Wife:

"... he who aims by women to be priz'd, First by the men, you see, must be despis'd."

The Husband (John Derby) tells of his own death, which he says occurred when he fell back on his own knife.

In relating his side of the story of the death of the Husband, the Bandit (Kirk Hard) tells of the Wife (Debbie Decker) pleading with him to take her away.

Rashoman:

"Truth is like a firefly, now you see it, now you don't."

The Priest (Dale Swann) and the Wigmaker (Bruce Hennie) listen to the tale of the Woodcutter (Tom Ray), center, who gives the correct version of the death of the Husband.

The Birds:

"We're Building a Cloud Cuckoo Land."

Gaining an audience with the legendary Hopoo, Michael Sgroi and Tom Gahr discuss how to persuade him to build Cloud Cuckoo Land.

As the two refugees plot to talk to the Hopoo, the birds of Hopoo's kingdom do a menacing dance.

Denouncing Athenian society, one of the two outcasts, played by Michael Sgroi, searches for the Utopian land of the Hopoo, who escaped Athenian society years before and turned into a bird.

At the supper table, J. B.'s wife, played by Debbie Decker, admonishes their son to thank God for all the joys given them.

J. B.:

*"Hast Thou Considered
My Servant Job?"*

Covered with burns from an atomic blast, J. B. laments the loss of his possessions and family, and in the concluding scene, rejects the devil and God, deciding the only meaning exists in the present.

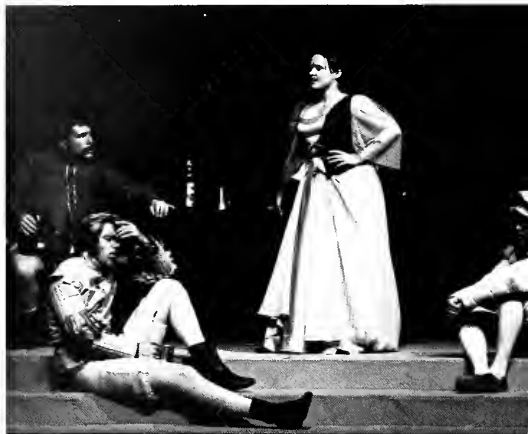

J. B., portrayed by Michael Bridges, is harassed and tempted by the Devil, Lance Stelzleni but does not pay any attention to him.

The Duke, Orsino, (Lance Stelzleni) sends the page, Cesario, with a message and a ring to Olivia. Viola, (Anne Zimmer) who is disguised as the page, is searching for her brother, Sebastian, who is lost at sea.

Maria (Lynda Wyllder), Olivia's crafty lady-in-waiting, gives a lecture to the drunken Sir Tony Belch (John Phillips), Malvolia (Kirk Hard) and the clown Feste (Greg Stanford).

Viola (disguised as Cesario) attempts to win the love of Olivia, right, (Debbie Decker) for her master Orsino, but Olivia falls in love with the page not knowing that he is in reality a she.

Program Council

Program Council Committees

The seven committees of the Program Council planned and executed activities for the University community, to satisfy a broad range of tastes. Film series, dances, art shows, fashion shows, speakers and other programs of interest were the major concern of the committees.

The Current Events committee sponsored the campus dialogues in the Goshen Lounge, as well as maintaining the teletype.

Responsible for giving guided tours of the University, the Hospitality Committee welcomed the guests of the University.

The Entertainment Committee of the Program Council planned dances, concerts and impromptu jam sessions such as this held in the Goshen Lounge.

Responsible for the major weekends on campus, the Special Events committee planned Homecoming, Winter Weekend (Best yet), and the Spring Festival.

A recommending organization representing the student body, the Student Senate acted upon all issues dealing with students. The passage of a Course-Instructor Evaluation program was the major bill of the year. Revising the constitution, the Senate decided to hold two elections per year, electing half of the Senators at each election.

W. Deane Wiley
Dean, Education Division

Education Division

W. Deane Wiley, new dean of the Education Division, focused special interest on the educational needs of the large urban areas. Thus the division hosted conferences for area educators and arranged public hearings on urban problems. A separate faculty structure for educational administration gave the graduate program a new impetus. Programs in progress in the division include Upward Bound, Experiment in Higher Education (EHE), Program for Teachers of Educationally and Culturally Handicapped (PROTECH), and New Exploratory Teacher Education Program (NEXTEP).

Andrew Kochman
Dean, Fine Arts Division

Fine Arts Division

Adding the department of Mass Communication, the Fine Arts Division expanded to include Radio-Television, Journalism and Filming. Headed by Andrew Kochman, the division approved Masters programs in Art and in Speech Pathology and Audiology. Holding the annual art show, the Fine Arts Division offered a chance for metropolitan high school students to display and have judged their art work.

Playmakers

A dramatic service fraternity, the Playmakers brought educational theater to the community and to area high schools. Receptions held each quarter introduced new members and interested students to the organization. Providing programs of choral readings, skits, and scenes for area organizations was a major activity. To promote a better understanding of the arts, frequent visits were made to the American Theater.

Zeta Phi Eta

A professional society, the Alpha Omicron chapter of Zeta Phi Eta encouraged interested students in the fields of speech arts and speech culture. Campus projects during the year included serving as hostesses for the Speech Developmental Tea and preparing taped books for blind students. During spring quarter Mrs. Gertrude Breen, the national second Vice President was honored.

A professional music fraternity for men, Phi Mu Alpha participated in numerous activities this year. Co-operating with the cheerleaders and rally squad, chapter members played in pep bands to boost school spirit at the soccer and basketball games. They also sponsored the annual Jazz Festival featuring the Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia. The major project of the fraternity this year was the annual Sweetheart Dance.

Humanities Division

A progressive division in student affairs, the Humanities Division headed by Dean Gerald Runkle, concerned itself with student participation and involvement in University affairs. Sponsoring a number of courses in Europe during the summer, students were able to earn credits while touring overseas. The English department expanded its curriculum, adding new courses in the General Studies program, and offered a masters degree program. Plans for a masters program in Philosophy were formulated during the year.

Nursing

Division

The only school in Southern Illinois to offer a BS degree in nursing, the Nursing Division offered training programs in the majority of surrounding hospitals. Patient care training, where nursing majors applied techniques and principles learned in the classroom, were set up in a new program at the Wood River Township Hospital in the Winter Quarter. A paramedical and medical symposium covering all phases of the problem of birth defects which included presentations and talks by specialists in birth problems and genetics was presented by the division in March.

Promoting a greater appreciation of geographic phenomena, the Geography Club provided a basis for interaction among students and faculty in their field of interest. Participants in the club were also members of Gamma Theta Upsilon, honorary geography fraternity, which presented films, lectures, and field trips to broaden knowledge in the specialties of geography.

Pre-Law Club

Promoting a better understanding of the prerequisites, opportunities, and responsibilities concerning the fields of law, membership in the Pre-Law Club offered students the opportunity to investigate the fields of law. While acquainting its members with the diversified fields of law, the club arranged speakers and programs of interest to the student body.

General Studies Division

Working to provide students with a basic understanding in all areas of knowledge, the General Studies Division required all university students to take courses in five major areas of study before entering concentration work. These five areas included physical sciences, social sciences, humanities and arts, organization, and physical education. Plans for a complete evaluation of courses offered were finalized, to ensure that General Studies courses fulfilled their objectives.

SIU Board Serves Growing Campus

During the past year, as the Board of Trustees met alternately at both campuses, Lindell Sturgis succeeded retiring Kenneth Davis as chairman; the Board appointed John S. Rendleman chancellor of the Edwardsville campus and Dr. Frank J. Sobkowski dean of the new School of Dentistry; and the trustees awarded several building contracts and approved designs for housing and new classroom buildings.

President Delyte W. Morris.

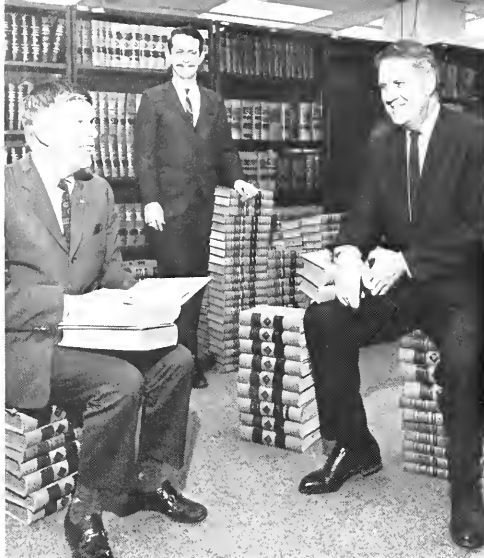

As Southern Illinois University began observance of its Centennial years, President Delyte W. Morris marked his twenty-first year as the chief executive of the institution. Predicting a bright future for the Edwardsville campus as facilities are expanded to serve increasing numbers of students, President Morris worked closely with Chancellor John S. Rendleman on new programs for the campus. President Morris is assisted on the Edwardsville campus by Charles Butler.

Morris—Challenging Role as President of Two Campuses

During a visit to the campus, the President discusses projected expansion with Chancellor Rendleman.

Schweizer and Lovejoy Library Director John Abbott discuss the results of the Arts and Education Fund drive.

SIU Foundation Assists Students

Under the direction of assistant Charles B. Schweizer, the SIU Foundation aids students in securing an education by soliciting resources of money, stocks, bonds, and gifts of equipment which are used for student instruction. Students who have excelled in their field of endeavor are eligible for student loans and awards and for recognition on Honors Day in the spring.

Edwardsville field representative Charles Schweizer acts as assistant director of the Foundation.

The Alumni Banquet in the spring is sponsored by the Foundation.

Rendleman— First Chancellor

During a reception in his honor, Rendleman confers with Student Body President, Denny Zorumski.

Pausing during Orientation activities, the Chancellor and Orientation leader Dick Chamberlain discuss events of the day.

Formerly located in Carbondale as Vice-President of Business Affairs, Rendleman now occupies the top Edwardsville office.

Connected with SIU in various positions since his graduation from law school, John S. Rendleman views his new office as promoting the autonomy and self-destiny of this campus. Believing the immediate problem of the campus to be lack of facilities adequate for its tremendous surge of growth, the Chancellor feels his most important accomplishment has been the start of on-campus student housing.

Speaking at groundbreaking ceremonies, the Chancellor initiates the first on-campus housing.

Assistants to the Chancellor

A staff assistant to the Chancellor, Linda Boals oversees the research for background information for his speeches.

Engaged in a teaching project for underprivileged areas, Dr. Emil Jason is also involved in the formation of the dental school.

In charge of submitting the budget, Dr. James Brown also handles personnel matters.

Dr. J. Thomas is involved in planning the Dental School.

Dr. James Comer advises the Chancellor on student academic matters and is director of the summer school.

Involved in projects for underprivileged areas, John Flamer is attempting to promote better community relations.

Ruffner—Area and International Affairs

Ralph W. Ruffner, a chief officer in U.S. foreign aid programs prior to joining SIU in 1964, now holds the position of Vice President for Area and International Services. Assisting him in the areas of administration, community relations, and federal and international programs are I. Clark Davis, Arthur Grist, Walter Robinson, Cameron Meredith, Oliver Caldwell, and Alfred Junz.

Administrative duties in area and international programs is not new to Vice President Ruffner, who previously participated in international agencies.

Vice President Ruffner dines with President Morris, Vice President MacVicar of Carbondale, and Board of Trustees Chairman Sturgis.

William J. Tudor directs RUD toward expansion and coordination of total University resources for mutual benefit of the area and of SIU.

Area services fall under the title of Regional and Urban Development Studies and Services and under the direction of William Tudor. International Services have recently become prominent under Dean Dale Wantling, previously a career foreign service officer, who hopes to "better sensitize our students to man's problems over the globe."

Dean Wantling, whose tenet is that "only by educating persons to live as world citizens can we have a sound basis for harmonious living," listens to Nigerian student Chris Agho-Otoghile.

Regional and International

Assistant Director Robert M. Reed works vigorously to plan international programs and exhibits.

During International Week, Norman Martinez displays articles of his native Honduras.

Katherine Dunham, internationally known dancer and choreographer, is an artist-in-residence at the E. St. Louis center.

Drums beat enthusiastically in the Performing Arts Training Center, directed by Miss Dunham, who has also established an African cultural museum.

Culture and Communication

Awarded the 1969 Dance Magazine Award, Miss Katherine Dunham works with her cultural Affairs program toward bringing the culture of the black people before the public. Also providing programs of interest to the community is Broadcasting Service, soon to begin radio and television operations with a 50,000-watt FM station and completely equipped color TV studios in Fall Quarter, 1969.

Broadcasting students participate in RA-Day, a simulated "WSIE-FM" broadcast using the University Center P.A. system to gain practical experience.

John R. Rider supervised TV-Radio-Film at New York's Syracuse University prior to joining SIU's Mass Communications department this year.

Under Director David VanHorn, Placement Services maintains a library of employer information.

Fifty-four government agencies and midwest companies gather in October for Career Day exhibits.

Employment, News, Alumni

The University Placement Services aid graduates in obtaining full-time employment by interchanging information for employers and students. The News Services, directed by A. R. Howard, provide the community with daily news reports, news films, and photographic service. Alumni Services function to assist SIU alumni and, in addition, are coordinated with student-oriented programs.

Assistant Director Warren Stookey is specifically interested in Edwardsville alumni.

Alumni Scholarship Fund recipients: (SEATED) J. Dixon, C. Wenc, K. Bennette, K. Suter, V. Smith. (STANDING) Mr. Stookey, G. Ray, D. Dustman, S. Dedert, D. Creed, W. Dempsey.

Through the changes of the past year, Dr. Tenney retains his position as vice president for planning and review.

Tenney—Academic Development and SIU Centennial

After serving SIU in the areas of English, philosophy, instruction, and administration since 1931, Charles D. Tenney was appointed vice president for planning and review in 1964. In this capacity, Dr. Tenney coordinates the expansion of SIU's academic program and is presently serving as general chairman of activities for the 1969-74 centennial period of SIU.

The Vice President initiates SIU's centennial celebration at ceremonies in Carbondale on March 9.

Each year of the five-year centennial period will be primarily devoted to a particular academic area.

The culmination of academic activities, highlights the year for seniors.

"I Believe in God . . .

... And I Believe that God Believes in Me''

Somewhere Inside Something There Is a Rush of Greatness . . .”

"I Got Life Mother, I Got Laughs
Sister, I Got Freedom Brother,
I got Good Times Man; I Got Headaches and Toothaches and Bad Times too, Like You."

“To Keep Us Underfoot, They Bury Us in School, Pretending It’s a Chore to Ship Us Off to War”

"How Dare They Try to End This Beauty . . ."

“Follow the Children.
Is There an Answer in Their Sweet Faces
that Tells Me Why I Live and Die?”

Science Tells Me Everything . . .

... My Future on Films in Space''

"Where Do I Go?"

The quotations in the preceding section are taken from the musical "Hair".
